Spectral Element Methods

Borislav V. Minchev

Department of Computer Science,
University of Bergen, Norway, http://www.ii.uib.no/~borko
Borko.Minchev@ii.uib.no

Abstract. The spectral element methods (p-version of finite element method) combines the geometric flexibility of finite element methods with the accuracy of conventional spectral methods. The basic idea of this method is to divide the complete domain into several sub domains. I will consider the main framework for spectral element methods in $R^d$ based on tensor-product sum-factorization and discuss some connection with time integration.